"Dynamic, motivating, and engaging... an infusion of energy, humor and hope."

Susie Miller is a speaker, author, and coach committed to helping high performers thrive in the relationships that matter most. Successful people know the importance of developing skills that allow them to flourish in business, leadership, and life. Susie helps people uncover the deeper issues that keep relationships – both at work and at home—less than they are designed to be, and then develop the relationship, communication, and people skills to win at work and succeed at life. Susie is the author of Listen, Learn, Love: How to Dramatically Improve Your Relationships in 30 Days or Less!, and has written for or been featured in large publications like Huff Post, Forbes, The Good Man Project, has been a guest on numerous popular podcasts, like Growth Now Movement and The Brand You Podcast, as well as appeared on Capitol Hill, and NPR. She hosts the podcast: Thrive in Relationships.
